

Your Story

1. How do you “celebrate the world”? Does it feel like you are “giving voice” to what really matters when you do it?

2. When do you feel most like you are speaking with your authentic voice? How often do you find that it is rooted in love of and protection of the Earth, Gaia, Mother Nature?

3. When you are most certain that you “know” something, where does that live in your body? How is it experienced? Describe it in detail.

4. What have been some significant experiences of collective voice-finding for you? Was it surprising to find that others shared your concerns or thoughts? Was your voice strengthened by that discovery?
